VOL. CXXXVII.—No. 179. ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA, FRIDAY, JULY 29, 1921. PRICE TWO CENTS

NORTHCLIFFE IS SNUBBED

London Publisher Says Foreign Minister Ordered Official Boycott.

DENIED HOSPITALITY

Dinner In His Honor To Which Harding Was Invited, Called Off—Result of Old Controversy.

Washington, July 29.—The bitter and unrelenting feud between the Lloyd George government and Viscount Northcliffe, publisher of the London Times and other newspapers, had a sensational eacho yesterday in Washington.

The English editor has been denied the hospitality of the British Embassy. Not only was an invitation to him to stay at the home of Ambassador Geddes suddenly withdrawn, but a dinner which was to have been given in his honor at the Embassy last night was cancelled.

According to a statement issued by the British Embassy last night, all action taken with respect to Lord Northcliffe was taken on the personal responsibility of the Ambassador, Sir Auckland Geddes. There are reasons for believing, however, that the official "boycott" of the newspaper proprietor was prompted by the British Foreign Office.

Lord Northcliffe himself, with characteristic candor, authorized the following statement.

"All I know about this is that I was invited to stop at the British Embassy with my entire staff while in Washington this week. I was also invited to attend a dinner to be given at the Embassy last night in my honor.

"Suddenly I was informed that both the invitation to live at the Embassy and the dinner were 'off.' Knowing the methods of Lord Curzon, the British Foreign Secretary, when he was Viceroy in India, I am pretty certain that he has adopted those methods in Washington. In India he not only cut off the supply of news from papers which criticized him, but instituted a social embargo agaisnt writers on those papers. In the present case Lord Curzon is not dealing with the natives of India or with the owners of small Indian newspapers.

"While I regret that I am unable to visit my friend, Sir Auckland Geddes, I am consoled by the fact that I am invited to a dinner at the home of Mrs. Edward B. McLean tomorrow evening, at which all of those originally invited to the British Embassy dinner are to be present."

Lord Northcliffe, after being closeted with President Harding at the White House yesterday afternoon for an hour and 20 minutes, drove to the British Embassy to pay his respects to the British Ambassador. The Ambassador and the proprietor of the London Times are old time acquaintances, and while the Northcliffe press was not enthusiastic over Sir Auckland Geddes' appointment to Washington, the personal relations between the two men were never broken.

Lord Northcliffe had knowledge before his arrival in Washington early yesterday that he was not expected to deposit his luggage at the Embassy. He had sent H. Wickam Steed, editor of the Times, to the capital two days beforehand for the purpose of scrutinizing the situation, and on receipt of Mr. Steed's information Lord Northcliffe made his arrangements to go to the Willard Hotel.

The cancellation both of the invitation for the Northcliffe party to live at the Embassy and the withdrawal of last night's dinner invitation were matters of private knowledge in Washington earlier in the week, but the episode did not become public until late yesterday afternoon.

The call at the White House was notable mainly for its length. Never

About 100 men are working at Camp Lee, removing stores to the army base in Norfolk and their job will last for six months. At that time it is thought that the government will offer the hundreds of buildings at the camp for sale.

Makes Vain Effort To Swim To Shore—Mother and Sister Of Boy Witness Drowning.

Harry Hanson, seventen years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hanson, of 135 R street northeast, Washington, was drowned in the Potomac near Miller's, about seven miles south of Alexandria, in Fairfax county, late yesterday afternoon.

According to reports made of the affair, young Hanson accompanied by his mother and young sister were spending the day on a houseboat near Miller's Station, and the daughter was taking photographs. The boy went out in a skiff and was a considerable distance away from the house boat when the skiff cap sized and Hanson made a vain effort to swim to shore. He evidently got close to the shore when he was seizd with cramps and became exhausted, for when the body was found last night it was close to shore in the weeds.

Immediately following the accident the mother and daughter returned to Washington and notified the father and the members of the family remained at the scene till the body was recovered after which it was taken to Washington.

Justice of the Peace Harrie White, of Fairfax county, was notified and after learning teh facts in the case, issued a certificate of death by accidental drowning.

RICHMOND THEATRE

When a great motion picture star appears in a dual role, the event is hailed as a sensation is filmdom. The sensation of multiple roles is doubled in Clara Kimball Young latest photodrama "Charge It." In this realistic picture from the gifted pen of Sada Cowan remembered for her successful authorship of "Hush" and "Straight From Paris," Miss Young assumes four different roles. The remarkable point, however, is not in the number of roles this versatile actress portrays, but in the effectiveness with which she enacts each part. As the brilliant, glorious social leader, surrounded by all the extravagance of wealth, Miss Young's carriage is convincing. As the flippant lover of another man, her gaiety and reckless demeanor are equally realistic. Again as the humble restaurant help in a cheap cabaret, Miss Young seems to have been born for the part. Finally, as the repentant, modest wife of a striving husband, she seems to be the ideal housewife to the manner born.

Insurance Agents

C. F. Holden, This City, Chosen First Vice President

Lynchburg, Va., July 29.—Col. E. E. Goodwin, of Emporia, was elected president of the Virginia Association of Fire Insurance Agents, at the closing session of the 23rd annual convention yesterday at the Virginian Hotel.

The other officers elected were:

C. F. Holden, of Alexandria, first vice president; Henry C. Young, of Norfolk, second vice president; F. S. Blanton, of Farmville, secretary treasurer.

Chairman P. Walford, of Richmond, chairman of the legislative committee; W. H. Bell, of Norfolk, chairman of the conference committee; G. M. Alexander, of Lynchburg, chairman of the membership committee; W. R. Howard, of Norfolk, chairman of the conservation committee.

The executive business session followed a naddress by R. P. Barlow of New York, secretary of the North British and Mercantile Insurance Company, who spoke on teh subject, "The Moving Finger Writes."

Mr. Barbour stressed the importance of every agent knowing him insurance rates are made and of having a concrete proposition to present to the man whose insurance have, he said, the advantage that tehy are selling their goods at pre war prices since rates have been raised in but few instances.

In discussing the development of such side lines as rain, water and wind insurance he said that the agents of his company last year received commissions totaling $501,000 from side lines alone. He also urged local agents to take a prominent part in the life of their communities.

Various topics of interest to the fire insurance agent were talked about in the open forum meeting of the morning.

The convention endorsed the proposed state legislation fixing standard qualifications for insurance, agents and steps will be taken looking toward pressing a bill for this purpose in the general assembly in 1922.

The selection of the next convention city was left to the executive committee.

Meeting In Interest of Tucker

Corporation Attorney H. Noel Garner presided and introduced the speakers. The meting lasted exactly one hour, the audience being dismissed as the town clock tolled the hour of nine.

The first speaker was Thomas L. Hunter, of King George County, who said he had ridden 80 miles to get here. He declared that woman suffrage and prohibition are settled and then explained to his hearers. Mr. Tucker's slogan, "Back to the Constitution." He denied that Mr. Tucker was a candidate because of his distinguished ancestry. The speaker told of the important positions formerly held by Mr. Tucker and declared Mr. Tucker would be an honor to the office.

J. Randall Caton, Jr., a local attorney, also spoke.

Music was furnished by the Citizens' Band.

WILL DELAY ARMS PARLEY

Britain Expected To Ask Later Date Unless Conference Is Held.

PROPOSAL ADVANCED

Suggested Plan Would Give Dominion Premiers a Chance To Be Heard. French favor Delay.

Washington, July 29.—Unless there is some agreement for a preliminary conference on Far Eastern and Pacific problems which the group of British Dominion Prime Ministers may attend or be represented, it seemed today that the movement for a postponement of the disarmament conference until some date after the first of the year would be pressed with increased vigor by the British, and perhaps by other powers.

The American Government, it is learned, is no more inclined to acquiesce in a preliminary conference now than when the suggestion was first made, and continues to discourage such a plan by all the means it has at hand without assuming an arbitrary or dictatorial attitude.

It became known, following a conference yesterday between the Secretary of State and the British Ambassador, that a definite suggestion had been laid before this Government for a preliminary conference in August, to be held somehere in the United States other than Washington or somewhere in Canada. This session might be participated in conveniently by three and perhaps four of the Dominion Premiers, it is pointed out, at least two of whom would find it impossible to be in America in the autumn.

As already stated, this Government so far has not concurred in any proposal that a preliminary conference take place either on this continent or in London. It is the feeling of the Administration that no favorable result might be hoped for from such a proceeding; that it would only complicate the problems to be dealt with and make it the more difficult for the disarmament conference proper to arrive at conclusions acceptable to all interests.

It so happens, however, that the British Government has a problem of internal politics more or less difficut to deal with and exceedingly delicate. The dominion Premiers insist upon a voice in the settlement of the Pacific issues and unless a preliminary conference is held, at which they may be present, they will demand a session sufficiently far in the future to permit them to participate in person.

Should the British Government therefore find American and other powers unfreindly to the idea of a preliminary conference, it seemed morally certain today that London will insist that the general corference of the Powers be deferred until next spring.

Incidentally, it was learned today, following a visit to the State Department of Japanese Ambassador Shidehara, that his Government probably would welcome a delay of a few months in holding the conference. The Japanese, it seems, now that they have accepted the full invitation of the President, realize how important it is to them to come to Washington fully armed with fact and circumstance in order to successfully impress their views upon the conference. A great mass of data must be collected and a group of the ablest diplomats and experts in the empire must be assembled for the mission which will be sent to Washington.

dprobcvis uyrtici mf md o m

Unofficial dispatches received in Washington today assert that the French Government also is inclined to the view that the conference would prove most successful if it were held later than Armistice Day. The State Department had received no such views from the French Government, however, and offered no comment upon the unofficial advices.

It can be stated with authority that State Department officials now feel that the worst of the preliminaries are over with, and that while

TRINKLE GAINING

The news from all over the state seems to support the contention of Senator Trinkle's friends that his recent gains assure him a victory next Tuesday. Even Richmond, with all its newspaper press for Tucker, and hitherto regarded as a Tucker stronghold, is now claimed by the Trinkle forces. This week witnesses a whirlwind finish on the part of both candidates, Trinkle's advantage in years, his flawless record, and his progressive platform, yielding him a substantial advantage as the race draws to a close.

The remarkable gain in the support of Senator Trinkle in these last weeks of the campaign, is due no less to his vigorous and forceful speaking in almost every town and hamlet, than to his frank and fearless enunciation of principle. He has stirred up the dry bones of politics, and galvanized the conventional stump speaking into a living, breathing declaration of state policies. He has brought matters that are vital to the prosperity and progress of this state, home to the people. The keynote to his whole campaign is contained in the opening sentence of his Houston speech: "What Virginia needs more than anything else, in the next four years, is a good business administration."

The management of a state's affairs is mainly in the wise provision and expenditure of public funds. To see that the people are not burdened with unnecessary taxation, and that each public dollar goes as far as the private dollar of the most shrewdly managed corporation. The people want more for their money than they have been getting. The custom from time almost immemorial has been to spend the dollars of the people politically rather than in conformity to the well-known practices of good business. If a million dollars of the state's funds can be made to go as far as a million and a quarter formerly, that is precisely the same as an addition to the funds of the sum of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

Judging Senator Trinkle's ability in this direction by the management of his own private affairs, his supporters claim that the same economy, the same clear vision, the same rigid adherence to sound business principles will be applied to his administration of the state government. They are convinced that his assumption of the executive office will inaugurate a new era. A Virginia city led the whole country in its reform in municipal government. It is not too much to expect that the other forty-seven states will mark the unprecedented growth and progress of the Old Dominion under Governor Trinkle, and profit by the example.

Feels 20 Years Younger, He Says.

Staunton Man Declares Tanlac Makes Him Feel Like Working All the Time.

"I am now seventy-two years of age, but since taking Tanlac I feel all of twenty years younger," said A. W. Garber, a well-known iron moulder living at 236 North Jefferson Street, Staunton, Va.

"Before I got Tanlac I was all run down, had a stiffness in my arms and legs all the time, and had got to where it was all I could do to get through a day's work. I didn't eat enough to keep up my strength, my sleep didn't rest me and it nearly killed me to get up mornings. I have to climb a steep hills going home from the foundry, and it tok all my strength to make it, even by stopping a time or two to rest. Then I would get home completely worn out and often never touched a mouthful of supper. In the morning a cup of coffee was about all I would take for breakfast. The fact is, I was pretty near past going.

"But I heard so much good about Tanlac I decided it must have unusual merit, and I certainly found that to be the fact. It has given me energy into me, and, in fact, made me feel almost like a young man again. Why, I work all day, pulling heavy castings around the foundry, then walk home at a brisk gait and don't notice that hill any more than if it wasn't there. I have been working hard today, but I am going to put out some potatoes when I get home, for I feel like working all the time. Tanlac is certainly some medicine."

Tanlac is sold in Alexandria by Edgar Warfield, Jr., and leading druggists everywhere.

SILVER-GRAY drifts of voile—soft clouds of dawn-tinted mull—a flutter of cool, clear-toned organdy—the loveliest frocks ever dreamed of are held captive in their billowy lengths, awaiting the magic touch of your needle.

Will you select the jade organdy or the apricot linen—the scarlet voile or the flamingo? It is merely a matter of preference, because you can't resist the fabrics and you don't have to. Our midsummer prices are setting a new standard of moderation. But even more important, a marvelous new invention bids you to choose the fabrics you most desire and it will grant you wonderful economies:

The DELTOR

A picture guide with every new Butterick Pattern that saves you 50c to $10 on every frock you make

First, you buy from ¼ to 1⅜ yards less material than you ever used before because of a wonderfully simple cutting guide worked out in your size, for your pattern, and in every suitable width of fabric. You follow it simply—surely—swiftly—and you have saved 50c to $10 in materials on every frock you make.

Then, according to the Deltor you put your garment together. Your needle follows its simple pictures as it flies in and out; with never a second of hesitation, you attain the perfect fit and drape that you thought could only be the work of a professional modiste of Fifth Avenue or Paris.

And last, the Deltor's finishing touches accomplish a wonderful thing for you. How often have you hoped to make a "creation" instead of just a dress? With Deltor you do just that. It reveals those intimate little touches of finish and adornment of a Parisian modiste—that make your frock stand out in any gathering.

THE · COOKERY PAGE

since Mr. Harding became President has so long a time been allotted to an individual visitor. Lord Northcliffe says they talked "shop" exclusively—a meeting of congenial spirits with a mutual affinity, namely, printer's ink. The distinguished Britisher was deeply impressed with the President. He found him "conspicuously handsome" and in every way a striking and agreeable personality.

The British Embassy's ban on Lord Northcliffe is the direct result of his controversy with Mr. Lloyd George and Lord Curzon during the second week of June over the subject of British personnel at the Washington disarmament conference. The London Times, referring to Lord Curzon, alleged that "His pompous and pretentious manner and incapacity for business do not fit him to discharge the responsible duties the mission would impose."

The result of that plain speaking was an imperious order by the British Government denying representatives of the Northcliffe press access to information at the Foreign Office and the office of the Prime Minister. It was generally supposed in London that the storm would subside. Apparently, however, Premier Lloyd George and Foreign Secretary Lloyd George and Foreign Secretary Curzon were determined to pursue Northcliffe across the Atlantic.

It is taken for granted that Sir Auckland Geddes in his official dispatches announced his intention of entertaining the Northcliffe party in Washington and that on receipt of that information Downing street decided to pronounce him persona non grata at the embassy in Washington. Either Sir Auckland Geddes received categorical instructions to withhold the hospitality of the embassy from Northcliffe, or, on second thought, concluded that, under all the circumstances, it would be unwise to honor him.

It was learned that the invitation to Lord Northcliffe to make his home at the British Embassy during his visit to Washington was extended by Ambassador Geddes several months ago and long before the publication of the criticism of Lord Curzon in the London Times, which led the Minister for Foreign Affairs to adopt punitive measures toward the great British journalist. As set out in Lord Northcliffe's statement last night he and Sir Auckland Geddes have been personal friends of long standing and it was understood that the extension of the hospitality of the embassy to Lord Northcliffe and his staff was on a purely personal footing.

It was part of the program of entertainment of the visitor to give a dinner at the Embassy last night to which would be bidden as guests many officials and prominent persons in Washington whom Lord Northcliffe had met on previous visits to Washington or in London. So far as could be learned, however, while a tentative list of guests had been drawn up, the formal invitations never were issued, undoubtedly for the reason that the rupture between Lord Curzon and London Times and its owner made it evidently impossible to carry out these plans. For it must be understood that the British Embassy building in this capital is the property of the British Government—as much so as No. 10 Downing street, London—and the Ambassador, of course, was fully aware of the impropriety of using the property of the British Government to entertain even a personal friend if that person had fallen under the ban of the Foreign Office.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL STATE LABOR FEDERATION ADVISES LABOR ELECT TRINKLE.

President of State Federation Gives Out Letter.

Denounces Anonymous Propaganda Aimed At Trinkle.

Mr. C. B. Lane, General Chairman, Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employes, 425-428 MacBain Building, Roanoke, Va.

Dear Sir and Brother:

Your letter of the 16th, inst, enclosing what purports to be "Senator Trinkle's Labor Record," which is returned herewith as per your request, received and contents carefully noted.

It is to be noted that this "Record" does not contain a copy of any of the bills, nor is it signed, but it does contain 'someone's' idea of what the bills mean as well as their opinoin as to the votes of Senator Trinkle on the various measures. I am sure your only desire is to do the right thing not only for Labor, but to also do justice to the candidates as well; I am therefore writing you a little in detail that you and your people may be fully informed on the subject.

First. As to Senate Bill No. 308 making it a misdemeanor for a representative of an employer outside the State to offer a job to a person already employed, outside the State. This was a war-time measure designed to protect the unskilled laborer from the unscrupulous Labor Agents who enticed the unsuspecting employee outside the State under promise of higher wages and when he arrived far from home without a job, he had to work for any wages offered, while the Labor Agent collected his fee for delivering the victim. AND THE PUNISHMENT OR PENALTY IN THE BILL WAS UPON THE AGENT SOLICITING THE INNOCENT LABORER.

Second. As to Senate Bill No. 1, it is to be noted that while the "Record" goes to great length in condemning the measure, that the only charge against Senator Trinkle is that he voted to take the Bill up out of its regular order; maybe for the purpose of voting against it, as you know this is frequently done by the legislators in order to register their opposition or as a matter of Senatorial courtesy. Do not let us be so prejudiced as to impute ulterior motives without verifying at least their probability.

Third. As to House Bill No. 85 enablying "tobacco manufacturing plants to employ women for more than 10 hours a day": This was also a war-time measure and was introduced and passed AT THE REQUEST OF THE WOMEN WORKERS THEMSELVES SO THAT THEY COULD RECEIVE DOUBLE TIME FOR THE EXCESS HOURS AND THEY WERE PERMITTED TO WORK THESE EXTRA HOURS AND NOT REQUIRED TO DO SO. Again let us be fair.

Fourth. As to Senate Bill No. 264 Amending Child Labor Law. The Virginia Federation of Labor had this bill introduced to make the State Law conform to the National Law viz., 14 years limit for working children, but another bill was introduced allowing children working in fruit and vegetable canneries during vacation 10 years old and it was in order to defeat this 10 year old bill that the 12 year old bill was passed as a compromise measure. In the words of Brother S. A. Minter, Chairman of the State Legislative Committee, "I can say that he stood by us in every measure. You will recall that the Child Labor Bill as referred to was amended to permit children twelve years of age to work in canneries and to run errands, this however, was a compromise measure and was generally understood by the labor representatives and the Legislative Committee that the United States Child Labor Law would be declared Constitutional and both houses with not only Senator Trinkle voting for it but other friends of labor as well due to the fact that the U. S. Law was generally understood to be constitutional. Personally in approaching Senator Trinkle about matters pertaining to the interest of labor, he was always ready to respond to our aid and to give up such information as desired by the Committee. Senator Trinkle also voted for the three other bills fostered by the Virginia Federation of Labor, namely, the Car Shed Bill, Amendments to the Compensation Act and the Boiler Inspection Resolution and fought manfully for the State Insurance Bill." A record for Labor to be proud of and one which should merit our full confidence and support.

Thus we have answered all the garbled "Record" against Senator Trinkle and what have his anonymous traducers to offer in behalf of their candidate? NOTHING!

But we know that the Hon. Harry St. George Tucker, while a member of Congress on February 27th, 1893, voted against the Safety Appliance Bill and that the Chairmen of the 'Four Brotherhoods' State Legislative Boards so condemn him. And we know that the Hon. St. George Tucker in a speech in Norfolk during the war advocated the conscription and allocation of Labor at a Dollar a Day.

In view of the foregoing, the Executive Board of the Virginia Federation of Labor in regular meeting assembled ordered these facts to be set forth in a letter to every Central Labor Union in the State with the request that they in turn inform the various local unions, knowing that if properly informed, Virginia Labor can be relied upon to do its duty in helping its friends and defeating its enemies.

With best personal wishes, I am,
Sincerely and fraternally yours,
J. H. HALL, JR.,
President Virginia Federation of Labor.

POTOMAC NEWS

evening Mr. Posey and Mr. Thomson had a double celebration in honor of their birthday.

Mr. Charles F. Holden, of Rosemont, and Mr. Nelson Snyder, of Alexandria, have been attending an insurance convention in Lynchburg, Va.

Mrs. Joseph E. Lyles has returned from the Alexandria Hospital to ehr home on Raymond Avenue, St. Elmo, but is still suffering from the cuts and bruises which she received in an automobile accident recently.

Baby Edward Posey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Posey, was badly cuti n a peculiar accident about two weeks ago. Mr. Posey was bringing Edward nad his sister, Marguerite, home from Sunday School, and at the door of his home when turning the machine, one wheel struck a stone and jarred the car so that a bottle the little chap was holding fell to the floor of the car and was broken, the little one on the broken bottle and was so badly cut that at the hospital in Alexandria where he was taken, Dr. Delaney found it necessary to take six stitches to close the cut. The wound was healed so well that Edward expects to go Sunday School this Sunday.

There was a large crowd in attendance at the opening of the Jr. O. U. A. M. fi Lawn Fete. Every one seemed to be enjoying it and spending their money liberally. Ice cream, cake, candy, balloons, caps, paddle wheels—these and other attractions are provided for all who come. The proceeds are to be used as a building fund for a much need ed hall, etc. The fete will continue tonight and again tomorrow night, so come and enjoy the evening and know that at the same time you are aiding the Jr. O. U. A. M., in their building plans.

Rev. J. R. Wood has returned to Del Ray, and will preach as usual at the Del Ray M. E. Church South at the Sunday services, morning and evening.

Clara Kimball Young

①As the modest house-wife
②As the woman of wealth
③As the much abused nurse
④As the outcast dishwasher

In her greatest picture drama of many seasons

"Charge it!"

Dedicated to all women who don't realize the value of money.

Of all the sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest are these, please "CHARGE IT" again. See beautiful Clara Kimball Young in her greatest drama. She had a fine home, a loving husband, plenty of friends, yet she threw them all aside in her thirst for riches, and power. See how the smallest things grow into avalanches of disaster for those who will not heed. See how the insignificant phrase lost for her, those splendid things of life that bring happiness. See the mirror held up to society. See how one class apes the other. See how far a women can fall and still maintain her pluck. See in this fascinating drama of life how wonderful is modesty, how fine is truthfulness, how splendid is honor. Don't miss seeing "CHARGE IT," one of the ultra pictures of many years. TO DELAY ARMS PARLEY there are many minor questions yet to be answered they will be dealt with without great difficulty one at a time.

London, July 29.—It was stated in official circles here today that a meeting preliminary to the Washington conference on disarmament and Far Eastern problems, to be held within six weeks at some Canadian city or a city in the United States other than Washington, was virtually a certainty, although it was admitted that the attitude of Washington on usch an arrangement was as yet unkonwn in London.

The program of the Washington coference would be arranged at the preliminary meeting.

Mr. Lloyd George, the Prime Minister, plans to head the British representatives, while Premier Hughes, of Australia, and Premier Massey, of New Zealand, also would attend the meeting on their way to their homes.

FAVORS RICHMOND FOR MEDICAL SCHOOL

Richmond, July 29.—The results to date of the poll taken by the Medical College of Virginia as to the best location for the merged medical schools of the State has just been announced. By a decisive majority it proves that the physicians, dentists and pharmacists of Virginia favor Richmond.

1,286 physicians have expressed their preference for Richmond and 281 for Charlottesville ,considerably more than four to one. 503 dentists favor Richmond and 22 favor Charlottesville—nearly twenty five to one. 897 pharmacists want Richmond and 75 prefer Charlottesville, nearly twelve to one. The total vote stands 2,686 for Richmond and 378 for Charlottesville or nearly eight to one.

While this vote falls short of a one hundred per cent of those interested in the subject, it is an unusually large straw vote and shows the great interest that is being taken.

The vote of Arlington county stands: For Richmond 33; for Charlottesville 6. This should prove interesting to the people of the county, who will have to pay the taxes.

CALOMEL DYING FAST IN SOUTH

"Dodson's Liver Tone" is Taking the Place of Dangerous Sickening Drug

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.

Here's Dodson's guarantee! Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate so let them eat anything after wards.

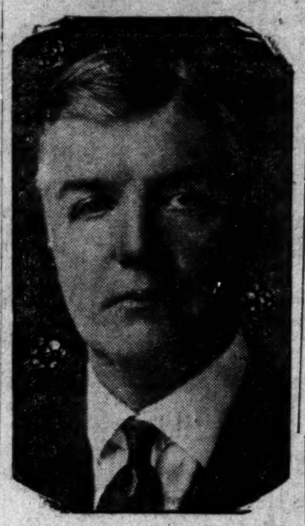
E. C. Folkes For State Corporation Commission.



Former Senator E. C. Folkes, of the city of Richmond, is a candidate for membership on the State Corporation Commission, subject to the Democratic primary of August the 2nd, 1921. He served an apprenticeship at the machinist trade; later studying law and graduating therein at Richmond College in 1896; shortly thereafter he was elected as a member of the House of Delegates from the city of Richmond, and in 1908 was elected to the State Senate, returning in 1912, but resigned to accept membership on the Administrative Board of the city of Richmond. During this period he was engaged in the fruit industry near Crozet, in Albemarle county. After the world war he was called into the service of the United States government on the Board of Contract Adjustment, which dealt with contracts of the United States for war material; he later resumed his practice of law in the city of Richmond. Mr. Folkes is now forty-eight years of age.

During the time that Mr. Folkes was in the Legislature he was the patron of the law that put vestibules on street cars; the law that subjected public officers to the payment of their debts to the same extent as other citizens; took a prominent part in the semi-monthly pay-day law; was the patron of the first law that put a considerable number of convicts on public roads; was joint patron of the bill, with Senator Strode, that eventually caused the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railway to take out a new chartre, under which it pays the same taxes as other railroads of the state; and many other laws extremely beneficial to the general public.

During his six years of service with the government of the city of Richmond he was brought into direct contact with the management and supervision of public utilities of all descriptions, and his many friends claim that this especially makes him desirable as a member of the State Corporation Commission.

Mr. Folkes has sharply criticised Mr. Adams, his opponent, for his failure to vote in the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company or Bell concern rate case, disclosing that Mr. Adams took one year, less two days, in which to consider the problem and solved it by voting neither for nor against the increase. Senator Folkes has declared for a reduction of this rate allowed by the Commission, because the Corporation Commission in its written opinion admits that the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company pays 4 1-2 per cent. of tis entire gross receipts to its parent company, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. That this company boasts that it owns nine-tenths of the stock of the affiliated companies and that in the year of 1920, the year the State Corporation Commission raised the rates in Virginia, the "parent company" earned approximately $11.70 per share on its over $450,000,000.00 of stock. This is evidenced by circulars sent out by the "parent company" to sell more millions in stock at $105.00 per share. Mr. Folkes has declared in speeches delivered in various portions of the state ,that the leading men throughout the country have declared for rate reductions and that if elected, he will certainly do his best to reduce rates wherever above described conditions exist.

He stands squarely for the abolition of tax on bank deposits, claiming that it will benefit agriculture, commerce and banking, and that State Corporation Commission should make a recommendation to the legislature on this subject, matters pertaining to state banking being peculiarly under the Commission's jurisdistion, as is shown by the laws and the State Constitution. He further points out that our citizens should have their rights to assist in public improvements restored, as they existed under all former constitutions. In other words, Section 185 of the present State Constitution forbids the state or any of its subdivisions from giving aid, and so without pledging the state or any of its subdivisions to anything he contends that they should be free to assist in public improvement, as before the present constitution, if they so desire.

Mr. Folkes has received assurances of support from all sections of the state, and in such numbers as to lead his friends to believe that he will be unquestionably elected as a member on the State Corporation Commission.

Not least among these assurances of support are those from Southwest Virginia, from which section two of the three members of the Commission come; one of these, however, has changed his voting residence to Richmond, and from this Mr. Adams, Mr. Folkes' opponent, argues and writes to people living outside of cities that there is already one man on the Commission from Richmond City and, therefore, country people should not vote for Mr. Folkes. This attempted array of country people against a candidate from a city for a State office will unquestionably be rebuked on August 2nd., for not in twenty years has any candidate, other than Mr. Adams, attempted to get into office by such a method.
